| | Converting a conference presentation into a manuscript Are you presenting at ASMMIRT, or do you have a poster from a previous conference sitting in the cupboard? Converting a conference presentation to a manuscript is one of the easiest ways to get published. Learn how to get started in this workshop. Feel free to bring along your poster or powerpoint presentation for some personal advice. Facilitator: Cherry Agustin | Manuscript review: for new authors and reviewers Find out what reviewers look for in a paper to improve your chances of publication. In this workshop you will get to see and practise on an actual paper as it went through the peer review process. Interested in or new to reviewing? This workshop will help you provide relevant and constructive feedback to authors. Facilitator: Kellie Knight | Publishing a literature review Do you want to get published but have no data? Literature reviews are highly valued by researchers and clinicians and a great way to get started in research writing. In this workshop you will learn how to find credible information sources, make sense out of all the data, develop a critical stance, and write up your findings. Facilitator: Ann Poulos | Bring your own work Have you already started writing and would like to get some feedback before submitting to a journal? Was your paper rejected and you don't know what to do? Do you have an idea in your head but don't know how to get started? This is the workshop for you. Bring along your work to discuss with the group and receive personal feedback and advice. Facilitator: Karen Dobeli |
